GRADUATE PROGRAMS: EDUCATION

The Faculty of Education was established in 1957 as the School of Education, and was renamed in 1972 as the Faculty of Education.

It offers a professional master degree in the teaching of English in international settings: the International Master of Teaching English (IMTE) (https://smu-ca-public.courseleaf.com/graduate/programs/international-master-teaching-english/).

It supports two post-degree certificate programs (https://smu-ca-public.courseleaf.com/graduate/programs/post-degree-certification-teachers/) for the professional development of teachers which are offered by the Faculties of Arts and Science:

1. the Certificate in the Mathematical Sciences for Education, and
2. the Certificate in Linguistics.

It also supports interdisciplinary graduate programs in the Faculty of Arts by offering courses at the M.A. and PhD levels in Education and International Development.
